Trade, Commerce, and Finance.

Trade, Commerce, and Finance.

(From the Liverpsol Courier, May 14)

As the Month of May proceeds business becomes more busyant, and symptoms of a steady if not active trade visible during the ensuing summer. The position of the money market remains for the most part malitored. Atthough the Bank of England returns issued on Finally exhibit a further decrease of bullion to the extent of $30,500, hours are beginning to be entertained that the large influx of visiters expicted to arrive at this country from America and the Continual to view the wonders of the "World's Fair," will greatly tend to the diminution of the expect of gold and silver even, which the returns arising from the expect trade of March. Several causes seem combined against the Cotton trade. Several causes seem combined against the Cotton trade. Several causes are large imports, increased receipts at the shipping ports of the United States, and the rather dull and discouraging aspect of affinirs in the manufacturing districts of Lancashire. The accounts by the America, which arrived here on Monday, advise us of a decline in the New-York market to the extent of half cent per bid daring the week ending April 39.

The weather in the latter end of the week was rather unfavorable for the growing crops, much rain having fallen, and the atmosphere being quite cold and ungernal for this senson of the year. It has, however, been fine both yesterday and to-day—everything that the farmer could desire toward forcing forward the young crops. We are now less hable to be affected by the "seasons" than when the Cort Llaws were in operation, consequently, the Grain trade keeps exceedingly free from fluctuation. In the latter end of the past week these was more than the usual demand for most articles, and holders were enabled to obtain sightly advanced praces for Wheat, Flour, Oats, Oat Menl and Indian Corn, but as large imports of Flour are to hand during the goat three days, the market's less active, and closed quietly this evening at last week's process.

Trade in the manufacturing districts cannot be good if we attach any credit to the several respects which have reached useful an arisons quarters of both Lancashire and Yorkshire. The producers of goods and varies at Manchester, look glochity, and between a sluggish home demand, and the districting tenor of American accounts respecting the Cotton Cop, No., hardly know how to act. To keep stocks low is the only chance, but this cannot well be done unless by having recourse to "short time," and that would be a serious drawback to the Accident on the Eric Railroad.

DUNKER, Saturday, May 24

The express passenger train on the Eric Railroad from New-York, on Thursday morning, when between Forestville and Dayton, was passing over an embankment about ten or fifteen feet high, when the track gave way after the engine and one passenger car had passed over it. It appears that the heavy rain of the previous night had washed out a culvert, thus weakening the embankment. The other cars were thrown from the track, and several passengers were injuried. One man had his armitally broken, and sustained other injuries; it is feared that he will not survive. A brakeman had his feared that he will not survive. A brakeman had his arm broken, and one man, who was standing upon a platform, was thrown twenty-five or thirty feet in the air. He, however, received no material injury.

PRESENTATION TO DODWORTH'S BAND .-The City Blues, commanded by Capt. Johnson, one of our best military companies, lately presented Dodworth's Band a bass drum, said to be the most beautiful, as well as the most costly article of the kind over used in this city. It is of curled Maple, inlaid with rose end satin wood. In front, is a beautiful painting of the City Arms, with figures in the uniform of the company and band as supporters. A massive gold plate bears the following inscription:

Presented to DODWORTH'S CORNET BAND, by the
CTTV BLUES,
New-York, May 19th, 1851.

This drum was manufactured by a former member of the band, Mr. W. H. Tompkins. It is a flattering testimony to this band that its per formances are so well appreciated by the public They were applauded most heartily in Broadway on the day of the reception of President Fillmore, and also on their return from the celebration of the opening of the New-York and Eric Railroad, when the directors and distinguished guests on that occasion joined in "Three good cheers for Dodworth's Band," while crossing from Jersey City. These circumstances must be gratifying to the members of the band, who, we may add, fully deserve all the reputation they have achieved. Dodworth's Band is entirely national in its character, for it is not only composed chiefly of American musicians, but its instruments are the product of American skill, while they are acknowledged to be equal, if not superior in some cases, to imported instruments. It is also generally conceded that the performance of the band would not suffer by comparison with that of the most distinguished military and of Europe.

John Mowbray, grocer of 44 Fulton-st, was arrested on Saturday, charged with obtaining tea to the value of $650, by false representations, from E. W. Tiers & Co., of 55 Front-st. It appears from the affidivit of one of the firm that on the 17th inst. the accused called at the store and represented that he was doing a good business and was perfectly solvent. On these representations the goods were delivered to him. Complangant now alleges that a few days since the accused confessed a judgment to his brother for $7,000, and that all his property, including the tea reterred to, had passed into his brother's possession. $7,000, and that all his property, including the tea reterred to, had passed into his brother's possession. On Saturday afternoon officers S. J. Smith and Elder, of the Lower Police Court, repaired to the store and took possession of the tea, which was brought to the Police Court. Subsequently, the tea was duly surrendered by the brother of the accused to the claimants. The accused was held to await the action of the Grand Jury Horrible Accident—Great Loss of Lipe—Breaking Down of the Louisville and Frankford Railroad Bridge.—We received yesterday appalling news from the Louisville and Prankford Railroad line. Our informant states that on Saturday last, while the first train was passing over a new bridge west of Frankford, it gave way, and the "boarding train." attached to which were two passenger cars, containing engineers, superintendents, and others connected with the line, fell with a tremendous crash into the stream, a distance of twenty feet! Locomotives, cars, passengers, and all were tumbled down together in horrible confusion. The loss of life is terrible. Six dead bodies had been recovered, mutilated in a shocking manner. We hope to be able to give particulars to-morrow—these are all we have at writing. HORRIBLE ACCIDENT-GREAT LOSS OF

Mr. O'Conor agreed to it on behalf of Mrs. Porrest, and Mr. Van Buren, after consoling with Mr.
Forrest, who was present, did so on behalf of the atter.

The Judge said the Commissioner could attend ome time next week, when the selection will be pade, unless delay should be allowed on account of the motion for commissions.

On the other motions for commissions to take the depositions of witnesses, Mr. Van B. read an affidatil of Mr. F., saving that the testimony of Mrs. Anna Flower, of New Orleans is no essars to his defense, by which the expects to prove impropelety on the part of plaintiff, that said Anna F. came to New-York as a witness, and remained three days, but the trial not coming on, returned to New-Orleans, with a promise immediately to come here on heins telegraphed to that effect, that in view of this case coming on, notice was given to her, but she cannol do so. Motion is therefore asked for a commission and the necessary time. There is a motion, Mr. Van B. said, on behalf of Mrs. F for a commission to take the testimony of a gentleman in Philadelphia, which they have no objection to.
In opposition to the motion, Mr. CrC read an affidarit of Mrs. F as a reason why the case should proceed, that an action between N. P. Willis and E. Ferrest was partly tried—that in the defense to that action improper conduct was alleged between said Willis and

partly tried—that in the defense to that action improper conduct was alleged between said Willis and plaintiff, and that as no objection had been taken in pleadings, there was an appearance that the question now pendicue, so far as regarded said Willis, was to be tried in that suit, in which she is not a party—and that said trial between W—and E—has been set down for an early day—that the Anna Flower spoken of in the motion by desense was, before her marriage, Anna Dempsey, and irred in the house of Mr—and Mrs. F—as a servant. [It is charged that she has an illegituding child in New-York, an a served seduction by a gentleman visiting Mr. F.½ house, but subsequently denied it as to him. It was also said she was known to have acted with impropriety as respected a young man, or lad, also a servant in the house, and it is claimed that her testimony is not entitled to credit. I On a charge preferred by her against the gentleman allided to, the altorney of the gentleman gave her a certain sum, she saying she could get a passage free from a captain going to New Orleans, and she went there. It is also charged that defendant caused her to come to this city the time she is spoken of as being here as a witness, and paid her expenses, and that lodgings were procured for her at 12 Mercer-st. She was here more than three days or three weeks—that she wrote, on that visit, twice to plaintiff, (Mr. F.) saying she had something very important to communicate, and asking plaintiff to call and see her, but plaintiff took no notice of her ietters, plaintiff further avers she understands if this commission is allowed, the defendant, (Mr. F.) intends personally to go to New Orleans, accompanied by some female companion, and also attend the taking of said testimony—and plaintiff should also be permitted to go to New Orleans, accompanied by some female companion, and also attend the taking of said testimony—and plaintiff should also be permitted to go to New Orleans, accompanied by some female companion, and also attend the taking of sa

LATER FROM RIO DE JANEIRO. - By the arrival last evening of the bark Black Squalf, Capt. Codman, from Rio de Janeiro 21 of April, we learn that the Brazillian Government seem now really that the Brazilian Government seem now really serious in their endeavors to suppress the slave trade. Several of the dealers have been heavily fined, and one of the most prominent has been obliged to leave the country. It is declared that it shall be considered piracy, and that the captain of any vessel engaged in the trade shall be punished with death. If the Government continue as firm as now in the attitude they
